- What do you notice?

WHAT YOU NEED TO DO

Identify Sources of Information

Self-Starting

-  Actively seek information. Don't wait to be given it.
-  Use different sources of information, not just one.
-  Look for information that is rare and hard to come by. This information has the power to innovate.

Future-Oriented

-  Ask yourself: What sources of information will help me learn about future problems and opportunities?

Overcoming Barriers

-  Identify at least one alternative to each information source you use!
-  Keep looking for information even if it is hard to find.

EXERCISE :

Identifying Sources of Information

Instruction:

1. Work in groups of four (04) people. Make a list of the sources of information you can use to create innovative ideas. Can you find more than ten sources of information? Can you find sources of information that the other groups cannot find? Write down all your ideas.

Examples of information sources:

- Websites
- Newspapers

2. Look at your list of information sources. What are the useful sources of information? How can you use them to get innovative ideas for your business?

Example :

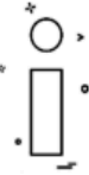

- Mobile phone accessories retailer
- Research websites to see how similar products are marketed in different Countries

WHAT YOU NEED TO DO

Identify Market Needs and Problems

Self-Starting ●

Think of three ways to identify needs and problems – they are opportunities!

Look for weaknesses in competitors.

Think of new features for existing products.

The Israelites said to them, “If only we had died by the Lord’s hand in Egypt! There we sat around pots of meat and ate all the food we wanted, but you have brought us into this desert to starve this entire community to death”.

Exodus 16: 3

WHAT YOU NEED TO DO

Identify Market Needs and Problems

Future-Oriented

Think of at least three ways your business can benefit from current changes that will affect the market in future.

Think of at least three ways your business can turn a problem or need into an opportunity.

Overcoming Barriers

Barriers can be an opportunity for development

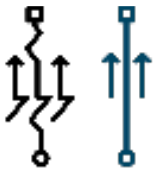

PEOPLE HAVE NEEDS

To identify new business opportunities look for needs people have by identifying:

What's currently available is:

- Too expensive - Could I offer something cheaper?
- Not easy to use - Could I offer a more user-friendly version?
- The quality is very poor - Could I offer a better made product?

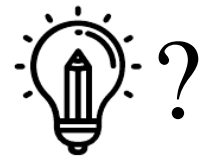

EXERCISE:

Problems are Opportunities

Instruction:

Work in groups of four (04).

1. Think about your community in Kenya, and identify the problems of its population. Select the problems that have potential solutions (e.g. "People don't have easy access to markets to sell their produce). What can I do to solve this problem?). Also think about the problems that may arise in the near future!
2. Choose a problem and find at least ten potential solutions.
3. How many of these solutions are entrepreneurial ideas?
